

So went the cadence at the first ever Philly Flag Day. This spunky gal is Brenda Exon, the Philly Pride Lady. She and her Partners for Civic Pride, which yesterday included students from Frankford High, Ben Franklin High and Kearny Elementary, are out to represent the city's motto, Philadelphia Maneto, which translates to "let brotherly love continue." At a time when the murder rate is frighteningly high and it's only beginning to warm up, now more than ever could we live by the flag.
